The soil of the Philippings seems specially adapted for its production and the producers thoroughly understand the cultivation. But will the strong hold on the market acquired by the Manila Are there not other countries in the East the soil of which is equally well adapted for the production of superior tobacco? We imagine so, and the time is not distant when an active competition shown, and the description of it monosyllabic, with the Manila tobacco may be expected. This competition has, indeed, already coinmenced. A Java paper states that a cigar manufactory has just been established at Sourabava, for which tobacco grown in by professionals, and that is saying a great deal. De mortuis nil nisi equality to the Manila of any of the varieties works in Natherlands India. Experts have declared that the cigara manufactured from it will pass for genuine Manilas, and are in no way inferior in quality. The Government of India is also making efforts to introduce tobacco planting in that country, and the Comercio states that Senor Monrost, one of the tobacco controllers of the Philippines, in particular to the screen on the prompt side. friends and even to strangers of his own nationhad embarked for India under a special con tract with the Government of that country to give instructions regarding tobacco, plantations and arrange for their establishment. Skilful cultivation, the necessary preparation which the tobacco requires for its manufacture, comeliness in the latter, and the removal of impediments to its export will double the yield of the auctions, and not a leaf from the Far East can then compete with it advantageously Should India supply tobacco as good at least as that of the Philippines, our production will fall off, and this is what we must avoid by the legitimate means of fair competition. Should we be unable to bear it, doing away with the monopoly completely may be a time, for if it comes too late there will be a difficulty in repairing the damage. Unless the Government acts with foresight in this matter, there can be no doubt that in the future the Manila leaf will lose its preponderance in the market. There is every prospect of the experiment in India proving successful, in which case the Indian loaf would speedily find sale in the European markets. Not only in British India and the Netherlands Indies, what the two sailors say, the captain was drowned of theft. however, is tobacco likely to be an important product of the future, but its cultivation will probably at no very distant date be attempted on a considerable scale in Formosa, the soil of which island is admirably adapted for it, We understand that samples grown there are quite conal to the Manila leaf, and its increased cultivation is only a question of time. The extended cultivation of tobacco in the Far East will, of course, tend to cheapen the cost of this luxury, a result which the senses. A fatal accident occurred yesterday morning on board the British bark Frederick. One of the ordinary seaman, nemod Edward Connell, aged 16 years, a native of Liverpool, was aloft at work under the main topmast cross-trees, when he lost his hold and fell, striking against the main topsail-yard, then on to the main sail, and finally into a ballast lighter which was lying alongside the vessel. When the unfortunate man was picked up he was flead. The body was brought on the shore and taken to the Hospital

The sons of a King by a Princess who is a Somdetch Chowfah, are Princes of the highest possible grade, and will legall and customarily have the highest claim to the Royal succession, The children of a Siamege King are either Chowfahs or Phittong Chows, the former being the children by Princess who are the daughters of a King, the latter the children by any other mother of the Royal custom as being of much higher birth and dignity than Phraong Chows, and it naturally follows that Siamese Kings, anxious, as contlemen of family. are in all lands, to uphold and continue the honors of their race, are ever desirous to have sons of this roult who may follow them as heads of the family. Hence it happens that Princesses who are simply daughters of Princes (Maum Chows) or grand daughters of a King are sometimes promoted to the degree of (Phraong Chow) so that their children may have the coveted title of Chowfah. Chowfah is commonly translated as "Celestial Prince," the word celestial referring not t heaven but the heavens, or in plain English the sky. shore of the sea of Marmora, with a railway station at only a few yards' distance stands a hill growned with a wood of laurels. From the summit of the hill there is a fine view of Constantinople, while on the right San Stefano, so beautiful in the distance, can be seen. How delightful this would be if ague and typhus were not raging all round! Of the doctors with whom I have to work I found on my arrival only two-civilians in a valid condition. These two had just been appointed. The three military high standard of our clothe has been fully main. eurgeons were on their backs; the chief surgeon soon went down like the others, and now the two newly appointed ones are attacked. There are assistant surgeons, but they are all ill. So are the sanitary officers, without exception. The whole medical staff is down with typhus. And tiny with steelyard and tape to which all goods to wonder; for, in the first place, the hospital, adapted for eighty persons, contains seven hundred. Apart from the hospital, we have five tents. But that is nothing like enough, and the greater portion of the sick are lying in two barns -the smaller one built of wood, the larger one of stone. I have been placed in charge of the larger one, with from two hundred and fifty to three hundred sick, and in what a condition This rapid growth of a lucrative trade, as we they are! On entering the place for the first time I was struck with horror. Imagine a large quired much care and experience in its develop. stable about fifty pares long and twenty wide, On one side there is a window in the wall; while due to those few firms whose commendable zeal on the other two windows have recently been has inagurated and furthered what at the outset made in the roof that the patients might not die was a somewhat risky venture. It now remains of suffocation. There are two large doors which with the mill corporations themselves to aid in are never closed. In fine weather this is as it still greater extension, and to avail themselves should be; but in rainy and cold weather it is of the suggestions and advice now placed at their unbearable; and at present, as if on purpose, we disposal. Messrs. Russell of China have now a have nothing but cold and rain. The rick are lying in a barn, packed side by side like sardlnes in a box. And on what do they lie? As there the view of having made cloths of pure cotton to are not enough mattresses, hay has been strown supplant the gray shirtings and T cloths an all over the place about a foot deep, with cloths largely consumed in China and now altogether over it; that is of what the beds consist. There received from England. Mr. Thorburn, the is nothing to cover them; so they lie in their uniforms and wrap themselves up in their cloaks. They have neither boots nor shoes nor linen. Whon a man dies, the mattress, if he is lying on tion of manufacturing capital and industry give one, is taken from under him and placed beneath to the English manufacturer, he finds the the man next to him. Consequently the clothes machinery in our mills superior in many ro. of the sick and the sick themselves are covered spects to that used in England, the help more with myriads of insects. It is something awful, intelligent, less of it required in this particular I approached one sick man, who was very woak. branch, and consequently in the aggregate and who was covered with his cloak. INGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong,

For comprehensiveness and practical service

this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have to late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are N.B.—All business communications should be here given in extense. Each and every word is ddressed VICTORIA DISPENSARY. 185 fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best DOUND VOLUMES of the China Overland | principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of 2:710 space, achieving a clearness not previously. attained, and dispensing with those vest margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted.

> To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Modhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammare and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-oations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-It comprises upwards of two thousand large
